

31st august 2019

Bretagne Classic 2019 / Newsletter n°34

GrandPrixPlouay

HEALTH MATE

The future in preparation

For his second visit to Plouay, the belgian team will present one of the youngest squad. At the start of the Grand Prix de Plouay - Lorient Agglomération - WNT Women Trophy, it will be for the members of this team to learn and progress.

In its first year, in 2018, Health Mate - Ladies Team came to Plouay to discover the biggest cycling race in Brittany. This first experience was concluded with a 44th place of the Slovenian Spela Kern. For his return to Morbihan, the belgian formation presents a very international collective of an average age of only 21 years old. It is obviously a question of approaching this race of the WorldTour with the main objective to progress in contact with the best teams of the world.

Only one member of the team was already at the start last year. The four neophytes represent the future of the team. Several have already shown beautiful things about during the belgian classics, the Austrian Kathrin Schweinberger who will probably be the most awaited.

A very young team

Health Mate - Ladies Team has presented its first list of riders scheduled at Plouay under the direction of Patrick Van Gansen.

111. Kathrin Schweinberger (Aut, 22). Great hope of Austrian cycling, she has accumulated the places of honor since the beginning of the season. She will be in Plouay to try to achieve a first performance at WorldTour level.

112. Fien Delbaere (Bel, 23). Counting as one of the most experienced of his team, she will be despite of her young age a good support for her teammates.

113. Kirstie Van Haaften (Ned, 20). After discovering all the belgian classics in the spring, the young Dutch will be in Plouay to continue to progress in contact with the best in the world.

114. Margarita Lopez Llull (Esp, 21). The young Spanish will live in Plouay its very first race of the WorldTour, it will be naturally to discover and progress.

115. Zsofia Szabo (Hun, 22). 51st last year, she is the only one of her team to have already finished the Grand Prix of Plouay. The young Hungarian Champion will be there to continue her high level training.

116.

The annonced substitute is Veronika Anna Kormos (Hun).

