

31st august 2019

Bretagne Classic 2019 / Newsletter n°44

GrandPrixPlouay

An experienced team

Since its creation in 2012, the Australian team has been one of the major actresses of each of the Grand Prix of Plouay - Lorient Agglomération - Trophy WNT Women she disputed. If she has not yet managed to win, she will try again on August 31.

In seven participations at the Plouay Grand Prix - Lorient Agglomération - WNT Women Trophy, the Mitchelton - Scott team has an impressive record with four podium finishes. The Australian team ranked three times second: in 2012 with Tiffany Cromwell, in 2013 and in 2015 with Emma Johansson; she also finished 3rd in 2017 with Sarah Roy.

Second in the WorldTour team rankings, Mitchelton - Scott will be in Plouay without his leader Annemiek Van Vleuten (n°1 in the UCI Ranking). She will however present a very strong collective led by Amanda Spratt (8th UCI), 5th in Plouay last year. All six members of the team already accumulates fifteen participations on the biggest race in Brittany, all were at the end of the race.

Amanda Spratt as leader

Mitchelton - Scott has presented his first list of riders in Plouay under the direction of Gene Bates.

21. Amanda Spratt (Aus, 31). 5th in 2018, the Australian will be one of the big favorites for her eighth participation in the Grand Prix of Plouay. 11th of the Amstel Gold race, the Flèche Wallonne and Liège-Bastogne-Liège, in Brittany she will want better than an eleventh place.

22. Georgia Williams (NZL, 26). 15th in the Morbihan Classic, the New Zealand Time Trial Champion will experience her third Grand Prix of Plouay as a teammate.

23. Jessica Allen (Aus, 26). The Australian will be for the third time in Plouay where she will take a role of teammate for her its leader.

24. Lucy Kennedy (Aus, 31). Winner of the Classica San Sebastian, the tall australian will be one of the outsiders of the day. His role will be to try to surprise the favorites in the end.

25. Grace Brown (Aus, 27). The Australian Time Trial Champion will be the second Grand Prix of Plouay as a teammate to support her leader.

26. Alexandra Manly (Aus, 23). 18th in the Morbihan Classic, the Australian will experience her first big classic of the season by supporting her leader.

The announced substitutes are Sarah Roy (Aus), Gracie Elvin (Aus) and Annemiek Van Vleuten (Ned).

